

2013

ONLINE ADVERTISING

NCLAWYERSWEEKLY.COM | 24/7 Legal News for North Carolina

NCLAWYERSWEEKLY.COM provides readers with continuous legal news coverage from across North Carolina, 24/7. Our site features the news stories, features, commentary and opinion digests published in each week's print edition, plus Web-exclusive content. Users rely on our searchable Archives for help with their research. North Carolina Lawyers Weekly also provides a free e-mail alert service that will bring the legal news from around the state directly to your inbox Monday to Friday.

Subscribe to North Carolina Lawyers Weekly today $31<sup>85</sup> a month

Subscribe to North Carolina Lawyers Weekly today $31<sup>85</sup> a month
Our autopay subscription plan is easy, affordable and risk-free
Try it. LAWYERS WEEKLY

TOP LEADERBOARD

Home | News | Verdicts & Settlements | Opinion Digests | Paralegal | Events | Advertising | Subscribe | Products | Classifieds | Resources | Alert | Search

LAWYERS WEEKLY
nclawyersweekly.com

Subscribe Manage your account Log out

20 Things Lawyers Need

MIDPAGE

RIGHT BOX

A NEW WHITEPAPER FOR LAWYERS WEEKLY READERS!

NORTH CAROLINA LAWYERS WEEKLY E-Mail Alert- Today's legal headlines - delivered every day by N.C. Lawyers Weekly.

Thursday, Dec. 6, 2012

HALF BANNER

HEADLINES
Local & Breaking News - Always Free

NC immigration panel says feds should do more
A General Assembly committee set up to examine what North Carolina can do to crack down on illegal immigration is recommending no new legislative action other than urging the federal government to do more. (AP)

Auditor scrutinizes prof's summer beach trips
An audit says a North Carolina State University professor took Outer Banks vacation documents showing he had a "side job" while on vacation. (AP)

It's true: Naked breasts can cause a man to lose his mind
A man has been accused of trying to steal a police car at a Gastonia strip club and using the car radio to chat with a dispatcher. (AP)

SUBSCRIBER ACCESS
Premium Content for Subscribers

IMPORTANT OPINIONS
Criminal Practice - Larceny of a Chose in Action - Theft of Blank Check - Forgery

State v. Grier
Even though the trial court correctly ruled that a single instrument can be both a forgery and a chose in action, there was no evidence that the blank check defendant stole was a chose in action.

TOP NEWS HEADLINES
The changing landscape of employee background checks
When it comes to laws governing employee background checks, 2012 was a year full of changes and extensions. These changes underscore the complexity and ever-increasing requirements compelling employers to review their practices and choose a background screening agency wisely, particularly given the increased number of individual and class-action lawsuits and agency investigations.

Snowmobile and ATV Accident Investigation and Reconstruction, Second

SIDEBAR BOX

Subscribe to North Carolina Lawyers Weekly today $31<sup>85</sup> a month
Our autopay subscription plan is easy, affordable and risk-free
Try it. NORTH CAROLINA LAWYERS WEEKLY

WEB AD SPECS

Top Leaderboard 728 x 90
Right-side Box 300 x 250
Mid Page box 234 x 60
Half Banner 300 x 100
Alert Box 300 x 250

Acceptable Formats
.gif, .jpg, .png
.swf (flash ads)

Maximum Size 96 kB
Color Space RGB

Resolution 72dpi
Loop Maximum 3 loops